

Warunki pracy (wy/prze/pracowanie warunków pracy)

Condiciones de trabajo

(Faire bouger les) Conditions de travail

Bedingungslos arbeiten?

(Re)Working Conditions

 Call for Postcards ***

(Re)Working Conditions:
Queer/Feminist Perspectives of Resistance Against Precarious Work
International Workshop, Hamburg, 1-3 October 2004

At this international meeting, we would like to discuss the precarisation of work under conditions of migration or non-migration and (de)gendering of work (hetero)sexualization of work and homophobia at work with some emphasis on the fields of immaterial labour (like communication technology, cultural work and other services).

Apart from scandalizing the current situation in many countries, we'd also like to share views about our own involvement in precarisation processes (which alleged freedoms are we buying into by not going for institutionally bound jobs?) our likes and dislikes when it comes to strategies of resistance and our visions about how we really want to (not) work, be (non-)active?

Participation:

"(Re)Working Conditions" avoids lengthy lectures and aims instead to create a forum for collective discussions from multiple perspectives. The participants are asked contribute short inputs of 5-7 minutes - in any media format (talk, video, performance, sound or slide collage) - which intend to inspire group discussion. We will be about 35 persons in all.

Application:

Please send us an electronic 'postcard' that contains a verbal and/or visual contribution to the subject outlined above. Accepted contributions will be put online prior to the event so they are available and allow for 'cross-references'. Please start handing in by mid July, the latest date for contributions being 1 September 2004.

Languages:

This international meeting will run as a multi-lingual event, based on the abilities and needs of the participants. Building on last year's positive experience, the group as a whole will take turns in translating.

Costs:

There is a small registration fee (15-25 Euro), but we will also be able to pay you a small fee for your presentation. Also, there will be a certain travel allowance for participants in need, based on the cheapest means of travel. Like last year, we will provide private accommodation (free of charge) or in a hotel (to be paid by the participant).

We are looking forward to receiving your 'postcards'.

Latest date for contributions: 1 September 2004File formats accepted: .rtf; .doc; .jpg (72 dpi), 14,5cm x 10,5cm*Our Mail Address: esi2004@w4w.netWebsite: www.queerworking.deDate and venue: 1-3 October, University of Hamburg (Germany)Organizing Team: Dr. Antke Engel (independent scholar), Claudia Koltzenburg (lesbian human rights activist), Doro Wiese (journalist & translator)Funded by: Heinrich Boell Foundation, Sections Hamburg and Schleswig-Holstein